Dear Denis,

as you know your resume is your first foot in the door.

Remember these four golden rules for each of your achievements:

- 1) Always speak the truth (I know it's obvious, but many people have the need to write articles about this).
- 2) Always have a story to backup your claims. You don't have to bring any proofs, but you need to be credible.
- 3) Ensure your references can back you up. Nothing worse then having a reference provide a totally different story.
- 4) Never disclose any information that is sensitive, proprietary or classified.

Once you meet all these points, you will be able to stand behind every accomplishments!

Market Update

September shows great signs of recovery around the world. It seems we have seen the worst.

The TSX started the month at 10,700, peaked at just over 11,500 and edged down at around 11,300. This month will be an important month as Q3 results will start coming out and the big portfolios will probably look to rally and register positive growth, which may bring the index down.

Canada created more jobs, US is still loosing some Brazil, China and India are showing strong positive growth!
